

We saw these 2 Moths working on a mating plan when we beached our boat at Porters Landing on Monday May 30th. Turns out they were Cecropia Moths.

Apparently they are North America's largest Moths and at the edge of their range. They were probably 6 inches across. Beautiful bit of nature.

We included a picture below and a little info we found on-line

Wikipedia Link:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hyalophora_cecropia

Our Picture on next page:

